Crown City Pays For Its Conduit Here

Tenders Check And Files Application For Permit To Start Work

Pasadena presented a check for $6,042 to City Clerk Waverly E. Pratt yesterday and filed an application for a permit to lay its Pine canyon water conduit through Sierra Madre in Orange Grove avenue.

All this was in accordance with a contract presented by this city and accepted, with a clarifying clause, on Tuesday morning by the Pasadena city trustees. The same evening the local Council approved the revised contract which in nowise altered its intent.

Pasadena stipulated that its payment of $6,042 shall relieve it of any responsibility for the reconditioning and paving of Orange Grove avenue after its big water main is laid and the trench filled in. Sierra Madre may pave the street as it sees fit.

The Crown City also assumes responsibility for any claims for personal or property damages that may now or hereafter arise through flooding of the streets by the bursting of pipes or for any other reason. It also agrees that peace of the night shall not be disturbed here by work on the project from 9 p.m. until 7 a.m. and that at no time shall traffic on Baldwin or Sierra Madre avenues be impeded or entrance to their properties by automobiles be denied residents of Orange Grove avenue.

At the same time that it signed its contract with Sierra Madre, Pasadena entered into an agreement with Charles Hastings for a right of way through his ranch from Sierra Madre avenue into Pasadena in consideration of the payment of $3680.

Signing of the contract and formal application of Pasadena for the right to proceed with the laying of its pipes here will result in withdrawal by Pasadena of its court action by which it sought to proceed by condemnation proceedings.

Granddaughter Of Local Woman Loses Her Life In Flood

Torn from the arms of her aunt by the force of water and debris, which crashed upon the Ghoslin home, little four-year-old Marilyn Ghoslin, granddaughter of Mrs. Emma Ghoslin, of No. 8 Bella Vista Terrace, was swept to her death Sunday in the flood disaster which swept the Glendale, La Crescenta and Montrose area.

Marilyn, who made her home with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Ghoslin, at 912 East Glen Oaks boulevard, Glendale, was caught in the arms of her aunt, Mrs. James Ghoslin, when the deluge of water first flooded their home. Her uncle, James Ghoslin, special federal agent, was carried about five blocks from his home, when he tried to save the child. Mr. Ghoslin was found in an unconscious condition three hours later, and is suffering from serious injuries at the Glendale Hospital.

The Ghoslin home, cars and garage were very badly damaged and the family is at present living in an apartment in Glendale.

Marilyn is survived by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Ghoslin; a brother, Jimmie, 2; her uncle, James Ghoslin; an aunt Mrs. Ralph Bracken, and her grandmother, Mrs. Ghoslin, of Sierra Madre. Funeral services will be held Saturday.

Drama Is Theme Of Woman's Club Meet. Here On Wednesday

"Drama" will be the theme of the meeting of the Sierra Madre Woman's Club next Wednesday morning. Mrs. C. W. Collins, chairman of the drama section, will have charge of the morning program. She will present three one-act plays.

The afternoon will be devoted to the guest speakers, Mrs. Leiland Atherton Irish, chairman of the motion picture division of the district federation, and who is also past president of the Hollywood Bowl association and president of the Hollywood Community Sing, and Mrs. W. J. Watson, district federation chairman of drama.

A program of incidental music will be arranged by Mrs. George B. Morgridge, with Miss Cynthia Hull at the piano.

Former President Hoover Pays Third Visit To Son Here

Lauding the city of Pasadena for her efforts in carrying through the Tournament of Roses to a successful conclusion, in spite of the big storm, former President Herbert Hoover Tuesday left the Vista del Arroyo Hotel to visit his son and his family on North Sierra Madre avenue. Mr. Hoover's stay here was extended over night because of unsettled weather conditions.

Coming to Southern California from Palo Alto for the New Year's festivities, the former President paid his third visit to the home of the Herbert Hoover Juniors and his three young grandchildren. Miss Treva Scott, Sierra Madre's queen of the Rose Tournament, shared honors with the former president as guest of the Rose Tournament at the Stanford-Columbia football game on New Years, occupying the box with Mr. Hoover and his family. Mr. Hoover was applauded as he crossed the Rose Bowl between halves.

Funds Of Red Cross Go To Local Relief

Chapter Here Seeks Aid For Distressed Neighbors In Montrose Section

All funds received by the local Red Cross Chapter in response to the appeal for the northern flood sufferers are to be used for flood relief in Los Angeles county.

This announcement was made by Miss Louise Judson, chapter secretary, following telegraphic instructions received from Pacific Division Headquarters Tuesday morning.

Discussing the situation, Miss Judson said: "With this dreadful disaster right next door to us, we hope those who can spare something, much or little, to aid our distressed neighbors, will bring in their contributions promptly. If not convenient to call at our office during the hours it is open, funds can be left with Mr. Rikeman, chairman of our finance committee."

"One pathetic incident, among the many in this horror, comes particularly close to all Red Cross workers. I refer to the death of Mrs. Adams, chairman of the Montrose Red Cross Chapter. She as well as several assistants, were straining every effort to relieve flood sufferers, having worked all day and far into the night, when the building in which the work was being carried on collapsed under the huge onrush of water about midnight. Refugees and workers inside were practically all lost. The exact number will not be known until all the debris and mud is cleared away."

"These devoted volunteer workers gave the most precious thing of all their lives to aid their suffering neighbors. We feel sure there are many in this city who will be glad to give money to carry on the work under the Red Cross banner so nobly begun by these martyrs."

CITY'S WATER CONSERVATION AND FLOOD CONTROL PROJECT PROVE WORTH DURING STORM

Checks And Basins Hold Under Tremendous Strain And No Water Escapes

PROVING their efficacy by the manner in which they held up under the unprecedented rains of last weekend, the Sierra Madre city spreading grounds stored up a total of 7500 acre feet of water during the period of the storm. Water from the Little Santa Anita Canyon dam, released as fast as the outlet channels could care for it, was diverted by the recently constructed conduit to the spreading grounds, and the open conduit furnished by East Grand View avenue added to the burden which the basins effectively cared for.

City Business Manager Al S. Myers states: "Having been tested by the heaviest rainfall on record here, the city's water conservation system has proved beyond a doubt that it can be depended on even when conditions of nature extend it past normal capacities."

The wells are now approximately the same level as at this time last year—184 feet below the surface, and it will not be for some months that the full benefits of the rain will make itself known. However, City Engineer Sam Graham states

NATIONAL ORANGE SHOW HERALDS NEW YEAR WITH GREATER CITRUS PAGEANT

The next big event in Southern California is the Twenty-fourth National Orange Show, which will be held in San Bernardino February 15-25. For this great exposition in honor of King Orange, unusual decorations, exhibits and entertainment are being planned that it may rightfully continue its fame as the world's most beautiful exposition.

In addition to a score of gorgeous feature displays, millions of citrus fruits in rack displays and other attractions, the management this year offers for the first time two new features—a National Horse Show under permanent roof and a food show. These departments have been added as extra educational and entertainment features.

Here we see Pat Graham, pretty San Bernardino girl, with some of the first of the 1934 ripe navel oranges. For years this young woman has been selecting perfect fruit for the orange sweepstakes competition. Pulchritude, eh what?

Art Students Work Latest Exhibit At The News Office

A few examples of the work being accomplished at the "Old Barn" studio of the Municipal Art League adorn the walls of the office of THE SIERRA MADRE NEWS this week, taking the place of 40 sketches and water colors by Don West which was greatly admired during the last month.

The latest exhibition has already brought many visitors into THE NEWS office and caused endless expressions of surprise at the progress being made by the students since the art classes were organized last June.

The charcoal studies shown were made in the regular class work of the students and in no way were created for exhibition purposes. In fact none of the students were aware that their work was to be placed on display consequently many who take all of their work home are not represented.

In the late spring or early summer the Art League is planning a complete exhibit of students' work and it is hoped to make the occasion worthy of their efforts.

Pick Leads For Play Of Jr. Women

Mary Davis And Selwyn Myers Selected In Final Tryouts For Cast

Mary Davis, president of the Junior Woman's Club, was cast in the romantic lead opposite Selwyn Myers at the Thursday night tryouts for the February production of the club's musical comedy, "Stargazers." Other principal players include Cricket Calkin, ingenue, and Carrol Cooper, juvenile lead; Mary Schmidt and Dan Parker, comedy leads, and Evelyn Solury and Percy Kortkamp as the secondary comedy team.

With book written by Bertha M. Price, and music by Grace Cooley, the musical play includes in its cast Angeline Per Lee, Ruth Klunk, Jane Holland, Irene Middough, Mary Frances Brain, Dorothy Walsworth, Evelyn Brain, Bob Ward, James Kelleher, Carleton Scalzo, Don Blanke, John Gray and Henry Neutzel.

Dialogue is under direction of Doug Williams, assisted by Gilbert Sommer, with Cricket Calkin originating and directing the dance selections and chorus work. Presentation will be at the Woman's Clubhouse, February 9 and 10.

Council Thanks Queen Of Roses In City's Behalf

Sierra Madre's City Council Tuesday evening directed preparation of a resolution of officially commending Miss Treva Scott for the immeasurable amount of Nation-wide publicity she brought to the city as Queen of the Rose Tournament. It was further directed that the resolution incorporate thanks for the charming manner in which she reigned over the floral pageant to the very great credit of this community.

Grand View Avenue Home Is Purchased By Chicago Woman

Mrs. Gertrude Akers, of Chicago, purchased the home of City Clerk Waverly E. Pratt at 667 West Grand View avenue, this week through Woodson F. Jones of the Sierra Madre Realty company.

Mrs. Akers, who visited Sierra Madre recently, fell in love with its beauty and has selected it as a permanent home for herself and daughter. She has been connected with Armour and company for the past 22 years.

First Pay On CWA Jobs Is Circulated

Envelopes Go Out To 128 Persons On Central Avenue And Other Work

Saturday afternoon the 128 men and women of Sierra Madre employed on CWA projects here received their first pay checks, and for the previous week's work a payroll totalling $1,920 was distributed for circulation into the local trade and business channels.

There were 119 men employed on the three work projects in the city Wednesday, with 25 at the settling basins, 90 on the West Central avenue extension, and four at miscellaneous labor. Nine women were at work sewing in the Cooperative Relief Association quarters on Central avenue. At this time there are 69 women and 251 men, making a total of 320 people, on the registration list in the City Hall.

It is explained by Assistant City Clerk Dan Lewis that there were originally 100 men working on the Central extension, but that 10 of this number turned in their cards because they secured temporary employment elsewhere, or moved from the district.

During December $340,000 was paid to the 5000 men at work in Los Angeles County on CWA projects according to V. J. Micallef, county disbursing officer. With no provision made for local wage decisions, Micallef receives orders only from the special Federal disbursing officer for the State of California, it is explained. Thus the disbursing department of the county's civil works administration is the direct representative of the United States Treasury Department, and the disbursing officer must audit all payrolls before issuing checks against them.

Four One-Act Plays To Be Presented

The newly drawn up constitution to govern the future activities of the Municipal Drama League was approved by the active membership at a general meeting of the organization Wednesday night, prior to the regular weekly class in dramatic action at the Old Barn Studios.

Through the month of January readings will be held in the Workshop and preliminary bit presentations will lead up to the public production of four plays, at which time the decision of judges and public approval will combine to choose the Santa Ana play.

All original play scripts of one-act length, as well as suggestions of outstanding plays, will be welcomed by the committee. Communications may be left at THE NEWS office, and they will be forwarded at once.

Tuesday, January 9, at 7:30 o'clock, preliminary readings will be conducted, directors decided upon, and stage workers chosen for the one-act play tournament. It is important that on that date every person in the active membership with intention of remaining affiliated with the Drama League be present. There will be instructive, interesting work waiting for as many as come to the Old Barn studio.

In connection with the mechanics of the local tourney, John Copeland, chairman of the governing board, issued the following statement under authorization of the board members:

"Four one-act plays of distinction will be selected by the play committee. Directors volunteering to handle these plays will have full responsibility in regard to staging. The play finally chosen to travel to Santa Ana will be cast from the entire group taking part in the local tournament."

Provincial Guest As Local Retreat Opens At Monastrey

This evening at 6 o'clock a Sierra Madre and San Gabriel Valley group will commence a two day's retreat at the Passionists Fathers' Monastery on Monte Oliva, according to Retreat Director Father Edmund Walsh. Rev. Father Eugene Creagan, Provincial of the Order from Chicago, and his secretary, Rev. Father Timothy Hurley, will be guests at the monastery during the weekend services.

Bank Depositors Insured Against Losses By Uncle Sam

With the arrival of the new year the government's bank deposit insurance plan, designed to protect depositors against bank failures, became effective and the certificate of the Sierra Madre Savings Bank arrived before the bank opened for business on Tuesday morning. The text of the certificate will be found in this issue of THE NEWS.

The insurance covers all individual deposits up to $2,500 each. In six months, the insurance will cover a larger individual total.

The guaranty covers checking and savings accounts alike. In cases where the depositor has a $2000 saving account and a $500 checking account, both would be fully covered by the insurance. Where the aggregate is more than $2500, only the $2500 will be covered.

The insurance plan, which amounts to a guaranty of all deposits up to the maximum, is expected to result in the unearthing of currency, which has found its way into hiding places. When the maximum is increased to $10,000, almost all accounts will be fully insured, with the exception of public funds, already secured by bonds.

Observance Of New Years Quiet Here

Storm Halts Celebrations But City Enthusiastic About Prospects Of 1934

For the first time in the city's history, Sierra Madreans were legally free to celebrate the advent of the New Year in the time tested manner Sunday night, and although many prearranged parties were somewhat hampered by weather conditions the midnight chimes rang in 1934 with an enthusiasm for what the future holds of new hope and prosperity.

A large local representation was on hand to cheer Sierra Madre's Queen of the Rose Tournament, Treva Scott, along the line of Monday's magnificent parade, and a number of the more hardy sport fans attended the Rose Bowl football game. Watchnight services at several churches were conducted Sunday night, while stores and all places of business took a two day holiday commencing Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Ivins Hawhurst were hosts to a gathering of members of the Allied Artists and their friends at the Old Barn Studios Sunday and Monday evenings.

Tuesday morning both the local and Pasadena schools, unharmed by the storm, opened their doors, and with the resuming of school the winter holiday season was definitely at an end.

Combined fog, rain and holiday festivities, over the double week-ends furnished by Christmas and New Year, resulted in three accidents and one arrest. Automobile accidents caused injury to J. Hoevel and Roger Armstrong.

City Suffers Little From Great Storm

Record Downpour Leaves Scarcely A Scar On This Favored Community

The great rainfall that exacted such big life and property loss in other foothill communities and throughout Los Angeles county left scarcely a scar on this favored community. The damage was negligible here, though the residents in the Canyon Park area and in the districts below the mouths of the various canyons were apprehensive when the deluge persisted through Sunday night.

All existing city records for rainfall sustained were smashed with the precipitation here in two day's equalling the December downfall mark set in 1889.

New Year's eve, Sunday, the rain's fury reached a zenith, pouring down to a depth of 12.06 inches at the Mira Monte reservoir. When the clouds at last broke up late Monday, a total of 14.13 inches had fallen, bringing the season's figure up to 19.25 inches. At other city recording stations, located at the Central avenue pumping plant and at the Sierra Madre Dam, the precipitation was only slightly less.

Orange Grove avenue suffered the most serious effects of the section. Turbulent flood rushing from Bailey Canyon south on Lima street, tossed a bus aside, overflowed the storm drain, and ended by washing away a large portion of pavement and creating a twenty-foot chasm in the roadway. Orchards and other parts of the street to the east and west of this spot were damaged in minor degree by the run-off from the northern part of the city.

Neither Sierra Madre Canyon or Bailey Canyon Park were seriously affected by the storm. Sand washed down the stream bed at Bailey Canyon, burying one picnic table and filling in a goodly part of the stream bed, but the outdoor stage, oven, rustic house, and various other man-made fixtures are unharmed.

At the Pacific Electric depot Tuesday morning the streets were silt covered and necessitated city crews' attention. Culverts and drains all over the city were mud clogged, and trucks were kept busy hauling sand shoveled from gutters and sidewalks.

Nearly 200 telephone lines were out of commission over the week-end, telephone company officials reported. Water undermined a giant acacia tree near the John Osgood property, at 617 West Montecito avenue, destroying a landmark familiar to residents for many years.

Although many people living in Sierra Madre Canyon expressed apprehension as to the safety of the check dam at the head of the canyon, their fears were allayed by statements of engineers reminding them that last summer the State checked the dam structure, putting in reinforcements. Water impounded was released as quickly as possible through out-

LOCAL COUPLE CELEBRATE 63RD WEDDING ANNIVERSARY; WITNESS OF CEREMONY PRESENT

THIS is the story commemorating a "puppy love" that has lasted for more than three score years.

Sixty-three years ago last Sunday a boy 18, and a girl 16, were married in Adams County, Illinois. Today the same boy and girl live in Sierra Madre. They are Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Vickers, who with their daughter and granddaughter, Mrs. Josie Price and Miss Cecil Sterling Price, have resided for the past four years at 279 East Grand View avenue.

The anniversary celebration was attended by Mrs. Vickers' sister, Mrs. Olive Vickers Neal and her daughters Misses Hallie and Jessie Neal, of Los Angeles, and Sam Elliott, of Hermosa Beach. Mrs. Neal is the only surviving person who attended the wedding ceremonies in 1870.

Mrs. Vickers, as a baby, went to Illinois from her home state of Virginia in a covered wagon with her family, and met her future husband in school there. They went to school and church with one another for many years before their marriage, and afterward they lived together in Nebraska, Colorado and Minnesota before moving to California 30 years ago. Mr. Vickers, before retirement, was in the contracting business in Long Beach.

Among the couple's most prized possessions is a coverlet which Mrs. Vickers' mother, Mary Matilda Baker, wove on a hand loom more than a century ago in a little log cabin in West Virginia. The wool was carded and spun by hand, the dye colors made from barks and herbs. Still the indigo blues are as fast as when they were first soaked into the wool, and the red as brilliant as if they had been made but yesterday. There is not a worn spot on the entire goodly sized cloth, whose fabric is soft and strong.

That coverlet, along with other similar pieces, long ago figured in a Civil War drama. Let Mrs. Vickers tell you: "My father and mother and I were attempting to get out of the war territory in our wagon, bound for Arkansas, when we were stopped by brigands who threatened to kill my father. They didn't do that, but they stole most of our equipment and horses and told us we must be out of the territory before nightfall."

"My mother got into the wagon ahead of them and threw the coverlets out onto the ground, and my father told me to sit on them. I did so, and the highwaymen failed to notice them. We finally managed to ride south, aided by other refugees and eventually under escort of Confederate troops."

NO OFFICE HOURS

The higher men climb, the longer their working day. And any young man with a streak of idleness in him may better make up his mind at the beginning that mediocrity will be his lot. Without immense, sustained effort, he will not climb high. And even though fortune or chance were to lift him high, he would not stay there. For to keep at the top is harder almost than to get there. There are no office hours for leaders.—Cardinal Gibbons.

LEST WE FORGET

In these days of business recovery when many of us who have known the pinch of poverty are again able to bring home the welcome pay envelope, let us not forget the man who befriended us when we most needed friendship—the merchant who extended us credit when he knew we just didn't have the money to pay.

It is easy to avoid the man to whom we owe money, but it is not right to do so. If we have any money to spend, any goods to buy, he is the man to whom we should go.

Our local merchant, especially, undoubtedly extended credit as a friendly act. He will be reasonable in arranging payment. Let us show our gratitude, walk in and shake hands, and give him the benefit of our present business. —Record, Brunswick, Me.

In A Social Way

A QUIET wedding was solemnized on Sunday afternoon, December 31, at 5:30 o'clock at the Church of the Ascension, when Dean A. G. H. Bode read the marriage rites for Miss Margaret Griebenow and Francis Dashwood Bode.

The bride, who was given away by her father, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Griebenow, of 10 East Mira Monte avenue, and Mr. Bode is the son of Dean and Mrs. A. G. H. Bode, of 45 East Laurel avenue. The bride wore a tulle in dark green wool crepe with black accessories, and a corsage of gardenias. The wedding was attended only by the families of the bride and groom. Following the ceremony a buffet supper was served at the home of the bride.

Miss Griebenow, a graduate of the University of California at Los Angeles, is a member of the Gamma Phi Beta Sorority. She has made a name for herself as an artist and her work has been exhibited throughout the west.

Mr. Bode is a Teaching Fellow at the California Institute of Technology, and is doing research work in Palaeontology and Geology. He is affiliated with the Sigma Xi, honorary research fraternity.

Dole Keeps Down Unrest In England

London Visitor At Ascension Rectory Says Its Really Jobless Insurance

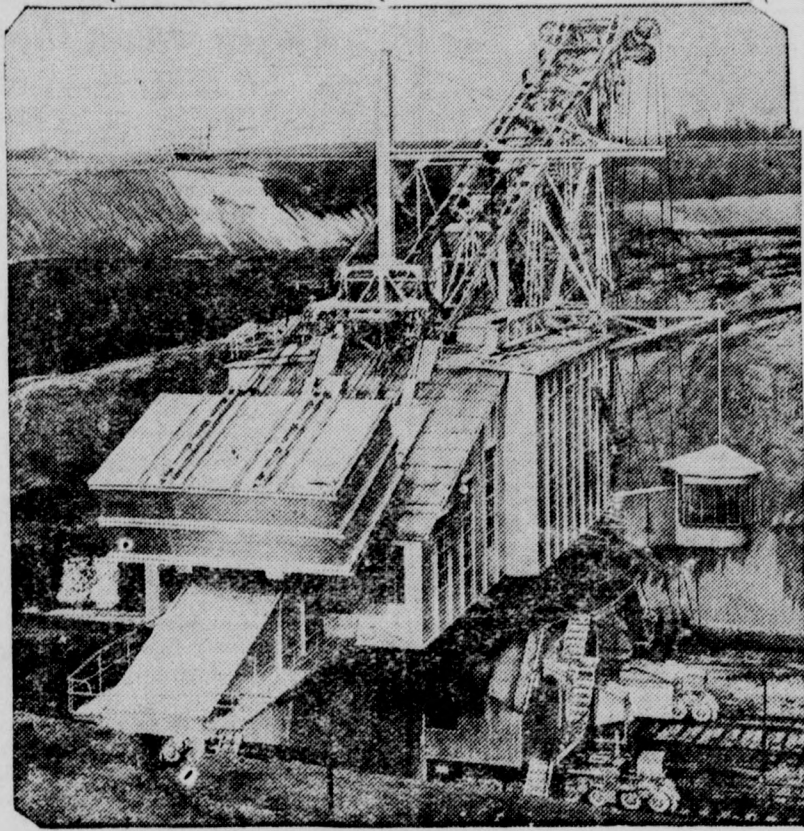

What Americans persist in thinking about and designating as the "English dole" is in reality nothing but unemployment insurance and it has accomplished wonders in preventing unrest among the working classes, according to George Burnaby Drayson, of the London Stock Exchange, who has just completed a visit with his cousin, Mrs. A. G. H. Bode at the Ascension Rectory.

Mr. Drayson, who is touring the United States, is greatly interested in the relief measures being applied by the American government and that of the several states and cities he has visited. He was particularly impressed with the program Sierra Madre mapped out for its unemployed which he considers has kept well ahead of any other community nearly its size which he has visited on his tour.

Explaining the so-called "dole" system, Mr. Drayson said the English workmen, employers and the government contribute to a fund and in periods of unemployment the workmen withdraw in proportion to the amounts contributed to the fund while the workman has employment. The men are anxious to keep up their payments during a prosperous season because of the certainty that they will have something to fall back upon when idleness overtakes them.

The infliction of sharp penalties has had the effect of keeping employers on their toes in meeting their fund payments, Mr. Drayson said. The government does not cut off payments immediately that a workman's share of the contribution is exhausted. His allowance is somewhat reduced, but he is carried along against the time when he is reemployed and again able to make his contributions to the fund.

The system, according to Mr. Drayson, has conveyed to the working class the fact that the employers and the government are doing their parts towards him. . . he has not become embittered during the long depression and he is less susceptible to the harrangues of agitators and the destroyer.

A. L. A. Activities

By Minnie Stinson

MORE than usual interest in legislation is evidenced by the American Legion Auxiliary as the New Year begins. At the Conference of Presidents and Secretaries, held at National Headquarters in Indianapolis last November, the program of the Auxiliary for 1934 was thoroughly discussed and formulated. The National Commander of the Legion appealed to the Auxiliary for its fullest support in the difficult work the Legion is facing, assuring the Auxiliary of its power to give invaluable help to the Legion in these critical days.

During the month of January, legislation will hold the center of the stage. All other phases of our work depend upon the success of the legislative program mapped out by the National leaders of the Legion and Auxiliary. This program has for its object not only adequate care for veterans and their dependent families, but the preservation and up-building of our Nation through National Defense, Americanism, Child Welfare and Community Service. In each of these departments there is need of legislative work.

The hastily enacted Economy Act of March 20, 1933, substantially repealed the World War Veterans' Act, undoing in a few minutes, the work of years. This resulted in wide-spread injustice to disabled veterans, their families, and families of the dead. Correction of these injustices, which caused severe suffering in many cases, will be sought, and efforts will be made to place the whole program of veterans' benefits on a permanent basis, which shall be fair to both the veteran and the Nation.

The Four-point Program, first worked out by a conference of leaders of both the Legion and the Auxiliary in June 1933, at Washington, D.C., then made a major objective of the National Convention, and finally presented to the Conference of Presidents and Secretaries in Indianapolis, must represent the carefully considered resolutions of our leaders. The Four-point Program declares:

1-That no war veteran disabled in line of duty shall suffer any reduction of those benefits granted such veterans in the World War Veterans' Act as in effect prior to March 20, 1933.

deceased World War veterans be without government protection.

In addition to the Four-point Program, these additional measures are sought—Removal of the 90-day minimum-service clause in the present law with reference to veterans' benefits. Legislation to prevent restriction of disability benefits by reason of employment by the Federal Government Extension of marriage date to 1941.

The Auxiliary can help the American Legion materially with the legislative program. The value of 400,000 women believing in and working for any cause is inestimable. The Auxiliary must learn to understand the legislative work of the Legion, and realize the importance of the legislative program to the success of all major programs throughout the year.

The Juniors will meet in the City Hall basement tomorrow January 6, 1934, at 2 o'clock.

Members Of Allied Arts Give Scroll To League Founder

In recognition of his work in founding the art movement which has resulted in the organization of the Allied Arts in Sierra Madre, Henry Ivins Hawxhurst was presented with a framed parchment scroll New Year's day by the membership of the Art, Music and Drama Leagues.

Inscribed with the Latin phrase, Fraternitate et Gratitudine—in fellowship and gratitude—the scroll names Mr. Hawxhurst as Founder of the Sierra Madre Allied Arts, including its branches of art, drama, music and literature.

In acceptance, he thanked the membership for its thoughtfulness, and added, "Much of the success of the League is due to the far-sightedness and kindness of the editor of THE NEWS, who has opened the columns of that paper to us, and has given us an exceptional amount of favorable publicity, as well as personal support."

D.U.V.C.W. Doings

By Lee S. High

ONE more meeting of the D.U.V.C.W. under the old regime and we begin the new year with a brand new set of officers and sincere resolutions to make the year's work as successful and pleasant in every way as we can.

Installation will be on the 18th of January and we hope to see all members of the Tent present and help make this a most interesting occasion.

Our Christmas party, given in the Tent headquarters, was a most enjoyable event. All members, their husbands, children and grandchildren, were present, 50 in all.

Santa Claus, in bright red, fur-trimmed suit, cap and shining boots bounced in just at the right moment, his face wreathed in smiles and made the children fairly shiver with delight. He distributed the gifts with a generous hand. Not a child was forgotten. Bob Newberry, who acted as aide to Santa Claus, looked after the lights and brought the tree from the far North—even bringing the snow and frost that sparkled so brightly under the bright lights. Our thanks to the hard working husbands of the D.U.V.C.W. We never could have gotten along without their help and co-operation during the last year.

Each person received a gift from the gaily decorated tree, which occupied the spot light in the center of the room. A short program was rendered by the talented ones of the tent. Comrade Nichols, our tent "Daddy," was unable to attend. Comrade Webster was present and beamed

Install New Rifle Club Officers And Rate Its Marksmen

William Middough was officially installed as the 1934 Kiwanis Club president at the annual ceremonies at the Woman's clubhouse Tuesday evening. Clarence Huntsinger assumed office as vice-president. Jack Hosford continues in his duties as secretary-treasurer of the organization. A large crowd of Kiwanians and their wives attended the installation, the dinner and musical entertainment program.

Duties of installation were performed by E. W. Nixon, district Lieutenant Governor, and head of the Pomona College athletic department.

Starting a much appreciated musical portion of the evening's program, Eunice Erickson, noted Pasadena singer, sang numbers including "By the Bend of the River," "Home on the Range," "Old Man River" and "Gypsy Love Song." Nine-year-old Dorothy Wade, pupil of Professor Oskar Seiling, played with unusual skill the "Gypsy Serenade," "Hyre Kate," and "Estrallita." She was accompanied by Miss Orlene Burrows, of Sierra Madre.

Dr. M. H. A. Peterson and Gus Riherd, both local Kiwanis members, favored with songs and piano solos. Bridge and various card games followed the musical numbers.

on all, as pleased to receive his bag of candy as if he had never had one before in all his life.

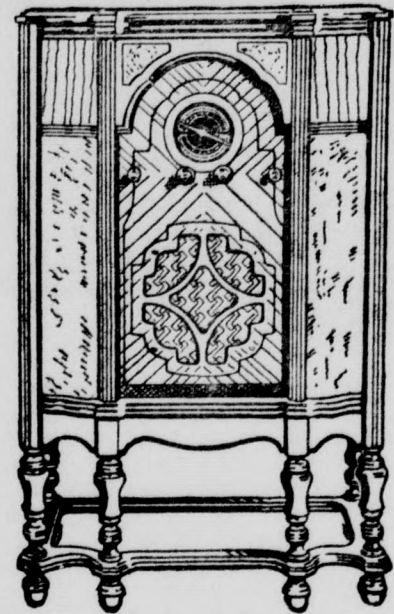

Department President Frankie Pence, Past Department President Nellie Noble and Department Secretary Fannie D. Medlar were visitors at the December 28th meeting. They expressed themselves as highly pleased with the work of 1933 and wished us success and prosperity for the coming year.

Officers for 1934 are as follows: President, Agnes B. Tyree; Senior Vice-President, Ethel Pendergast; Junior Vice-President, Lena S. High; Chaplain, Mary Dickson; Patriotic Instructor, Augusta M. Coats; Treasurer, Mattie M. Cuddy; Council Member No. 1, Mary Wamock; Council Member No. 2, Florence Ware; Council Member No. 3, Mary Tuggle. Other officers are appointive.

Comrade Nichols is confined to his home with an attack of rheumatism.

Comrade Webster is suffering from the old wound in his limb and is staying in while the bad weather continues.

Miriam Coats, daughter of our Patriotic Instructor, is confined to her home with a severe cold.

RANUNCULUS COME IN MANY NEW COLORS NOW

RANUNCULUS bulbs planted during the fall and winter months in Southern California, should produce flowers in abundance by April.

Plant the bulbs claws downward in freshly turned soil and keep them on the dry side until the sprouts appear above the surface. Do not soak the bulbs before planting. Ranunculus have been improved greatly in recent years and there is now a greater range of colors in the orange and yellow shades. Also a great percentage of the plants produce double and semi-double flowers.

Under proper cultivation they should grow to a height of about 18 inches and flowers may be cut with long stems. In climates similar to Southern California, bulbs are best planted from September to January. Where the winters are more severe, they may be planted in the later winter or early spring months.

Ranunculus may also be grown from seed. Prepare beds, sow seed on the surface, cover with peat moss or leaf mold and keep thoroughly moist. They grow very slowly the first few weeks and require a cool temperature to sprout.

STILL TIME TO SET OUT STOCKS FOR SPRING BLOOM

Stocks should be grown during the cool months of the year in this climate. Seeds may be planted in the late summer or early fall, but plants for early spring bloom may still be set out. Transplant to a well drained soil if water stands around the plants or if the soil remains saturated for a time during the rainy season, stocks will wilt and die. Freshly cut stocks sometimes wilt, because the wood is firm and hard and does not take water freely. To counteract this, crush about two inches of the stem ends by pounding them with a hammer or something similar. Wilted stocks treated in this way will revive quickly after being placed in water.

For cut flower purposes, branching varieties of stocks are best. Bismarcks or Giant Imperial, branch close to the ground and flowers may be removed without disfiguring the plant. Ten Weeks Stocks are Dwarf varieties for bedding purposes only. They should never be planted for cut flowers.

Parents Warned To Be On The Lookout For Symptoms Of Mumps

A warning to all parents to closely observe their children for symptoms of mumps was issued this week by Mrs. Ellen Coll Barker, school nurse. Any child who has a suspicion of swelling about the neck should be kept out of school and Mrs. Barker notified. The disease has been spreading among junior high school children and a number of children of grammar school age have been suffering from the malady. Children have made contacts during the Christmas vacation that might have laid them open to the germ, Mrs. Barker stated.

Business Upswing Is Very Real

by RALPH H. TAYLOR
Sec. Agricultural Legislative Committee of California

IN times of depression, ADVERTISE!

That sound advice, established time and again in other lines of business, comes from the California Fruit Growers Exchange—one of America's largest farm cooperatives and its most consistent advertiser of farm commodities.

The Exchange, which has made Sunkist fruits famous throughout the world, pays this splendid tribute to the powers of advertising, backed up by good products: "Not only has our volume been maintained during the past three years, but stranger yet, our prices have not decreased as much as prices of most of the manufacturing lines."

"The per capita consumption of oranges has increased 31 percent in the past five years, compared with the preceding five years."

V. B. Geissinger, Sunkist advertising manager, reports that Sunkist advertising was inaugurated in 1907, a year of panic, and has been continued consistently through the years which have followed.

"While our growers have invested slightly over $18,000,000 in 26 years of Sunkist advertising," he declares, "our annual investment is now less than one cent per year per consumer to reach the 122 million people of the United States."

"The industry is convinced that our consistent advertising effort has been sound, and many believe that the need for continued and even increased effort was never greater."

"We have seen the per capita consumption of citrus fruits increase from 7 pounds in 1907, to 37.5 pounds in 1933, an increase of 428 per cent in 26 years."

More significant, the advertising executive of the Exchange adds to the growing note of optimism in business circles with the statement that the plans of leading National advertisers show a definite swing toward better days.

Eighty per cent of the Nation's sales organizations expect to spend more for advertising in 1934 than in 1933, he announces, and forty per cent are increasing their sales' forces.

Another flash of sunshine comes from the Federal Reserve Bank of San Francisco, which reports that business on the Pacific Coast showed an aggregate gain for November, with both industry and trade more active than a year earlier.

And Christmas trade, in the great majority of California cities, gave further confirmation of new buying power. In many sections, the holiday trade was heavier than at any period since the start of the depression.

Millions For Edison Work During Year

Company Will Spend $14,750,000 For Improvements And Operation

The Southern California Edison Company will be instrumental in the distribution of approximately $14,750,000 in its territory during 1934 in new construction, operation and maintenance, taxes and payrolls, according to the announcement yesterday of Harry J. Bauer, president. The announcement was made at a meeting in Los Angeles of Edison company division and district managers, which Fred Schwartz, District Manager, attended. The company's board of directors, Mr. Bauer told the managers, has approved the budget and the new business program for the new year. The $14,750,000 to be distributed is exclusive of bond interest and other payments for the use of capital.

Funds of the 1934 budget for payroll, operations and maintenance and new construction, totaling approximately $9,700,000 will be expended according to requirements in the eleven divisions comprising Southern California Edison Company territory in Southern and Central California. These eleven divisions include 28 geographic districts, where the bulk of the new construction work will be done this year to meet the requirements of new business. For the most part, this new construction will be extensions and reinforcements of existing service lines and the reinforcement of distributing station facilities.

Commenting further upon the distribution of funds to be made by the company this year, Mr. Bauer said that the Edison tax bill will be approximately $5,050,000, or about 34 per cent of the total to be distributed during the 12 months.

"The Edison company's program for 1934 will carry forward the energetic commercial development plans inaugurated in November of last year," Mr. Bauer said. "Our present aggressive effort to stimulate business in our territory is keyed to the new optimism which is apparent throughout the country. The already favorable response by the electrical trade and the public indicates that 1934 will reward the individual or the organization which both thinks and acts constructively. Increased buying of electrical power shows the healthy condition of the country at large and of Southern California in particular."

"Beginning with mid-July of 1933, the electrical power output of the Southern California Edison Company, on the basis of a week by week comparison with the corresponding period of the previous year, turned definitely upward. The rising curve, continuous with but two deviations that reflected holiday conditions, has ranged from .98 per cent increase at the outset to as high as 11.14 per cent increase for one week in November. This favorable condition with respect to output gain of the Edison company is indicative of the trend of other electric utilities of the Pacific Coast and parallels closely to the National trend. As we enter the new year we are now able to say definitely that there has been an upturn in the demand curve on electric utilities of sufficiently long duration to justify our belief that the upturn has been established."

At the time of the accident he was alone in his car. The automobile that hit him, occupied by five people from Brawley, is asserted to have been traveling at a high rate of speed.

Fire Flames

By one of the boys

WATER, water everywhere, and not a fire in sight. Sunny, when we have forest fires, we have no rain and when we have rain we have no forest fires. A lot of people got soaked on New Year's Eve more ways than one. Some even got soaked by the judges the next morning. Along about midnight on New Year's Eve, there were a lot of people who might have been searching for a miracle man to turn off the rain. And plenty of folks who were headed for midnight parties, got plenty wet on the outside. All day, during Sunday's downpour, Charlie Peterson did a "landsliding" business. Many cars in and about Sierra Madre were made useless by water getting into the workings of the engines. Charlie soon had many of them going after saying a few magic words with an air hose or gas flame. So many calls came into the City Hall for help that not only the street employees, but the Business Manager and the Mayor were trying to change the course of damaging streams about town. And still it rained.

Due to December having five Fridays, this is one of those periods when three weeks expire between meetings, and a lot of firemen hardly knew what to do with themselves last week. Roy Walsworth through force of habit left home to attend the meeting last Friday. Only to find that everybody else was late. Th was not the only disappointment Roy experienced in the past two weeks. On New Year's Day, he had rented a large lot in Pasadena to park his trucks, which were to be loaded with passengers to view the parade. E cause of the rain, the parade course was changed and Roy's choice parking place was omitted from the route. But still he laughed that one off. Not only that, but the rain scared about half of his reservists into the idea of staying at home.

A report of the financial outcome of the Firemen's Christmas Party will be published at a late date. Many of the men have not turned in their reports but all are expected to do so at the next meeting. Each man is given 2 tickets at the start. Some see all, while others are not so good. It is hopefully expected that sufficient has been raised to cover all expenses.

If you have something to sell the surest way to dispose of it is to advertise it in the want ad column in the Sierra Madre News.

CITY'S WATER CONSERVATION AND FLOOD CONTROL PROJECT PROVE WORTH DURING STORM

Water will spread in an extremely beneficial manner over the grounds.

For two days and nights city workers were busy at the spreading grounds diverting the high water to basins and ditches and watching the retaining walls for possible leaks. Due to the careful watch that was kept there was not an appreciable quantity of water loosed, and all water collecting north of Grand View avenue, east of Baldwin, was conserved.

Secondly, in the matter of flood control, Arcadia and southern points were saved from much of the usual flood which in the past has washed down from the foothills.

With a direct fall of over 14 inches, as well as the diverted waters, all basins were filled to capacity when the skies at last cleared Tuesday morning, but the heavy fall was quickly absorbed by the porous soil to sink to the area of the city wells.

"That there was no damage done to the construction work or to the completed ditches and basins," Myers said, "is due to the forethought of the city engineers, who prepared long before the eventuality of the rainy season for just such an emergency. The men and myself were continuously on the job during the storm to see that nothing went wrong, and we were well pleased by the manner in which the grounds responded to the heavy rainfall."

Although Sierra Madre escaped with practically no damage from the rain, Arcadia was not so fortunate.

Women See Saving Of $6,000 To City In Water Conservation

Filled with praise for the manner in which the city settling basins and spreading grounds handled the water that came in flood proportions over the weekend, the Garden Section of the Woman's Club Wednesday afternoon completed a tour of the flood control and conservation project now under way here.

"It is a revelation," said Mrs. W. J. Lawless, chairman of the Garden Section after the inspection, "to see the grounds when they are filled and it is made apparent just what purpose every ditch and basin is constructed for. It is estimated, according to current water rates, that by reason of the fact that the retaining walls all held and all the water that entered the grounds from the north was conserved in the city's underground basin there was an actual saving of $6000 in that one storm."

After the tour the club members returned to the club house for a special program at which was discussed the plan for beautifying the spreading ground property and converting it eventually into a park. Announcement was made of an evening meeting in the future at which Sierra Madre utilities will be discussed, and motion pictures of the settling basins taken during the rain will be screened.

Mrs. C. D. Lindsey, chairman of the home-making division of the District Federation of Women's Clubs, and Lucy Myers, garden chairman of the same organization, spoke on the subjects of the New Leisure, and proper pruning of street trees.

Runoff from the foothills and upper valley regions washed down the little Santa Anita wash depositing a large quantity of mud on Foothill boulevard and wrecking stone retaining walls built by that city for flood control purposes.

MAN'S CASTLE COMES TO LYRIC THEATRE

The Frank Borzage Production "Man's Castle" with Loretta Young and Spencer Tracy in the lead, will be seen at the Lyric Theatre in Monrovia, for three days starting Sunday.

SIX FEATURE BILL AT ARCADIA THEATRE

Tuesday, January 9th, Gillette's Arcadia Theatre plans to present the greatest program of varied entertainment that has ever been offered by that house.

For a general admission of ten cents, including children and adults alike, the following six features will be offered. First, an Our Gang comedy entitled "Bed-Time Worries," then "Dutch Guiana," a Travelogue, and Ted Healey and his Stooges in an all-Technicolor musical special "Hello Pop."

The famed comedy team of Laurel and Hardy appear in "Busy Bodies," and another film in Technicolor, "Microscopic Mysteries" brings a new method of microscopic film projection to view. Concluding the bill is a cartoon called "Willie the Whooper in Play Ball."

Tonight and Saturday "Turn Back the Clock," with Lee Tracy, is featured. Sunday and Monday, January 7 and 8, "Beauty For Sale" is screened, and next Wednesday Marie Dressler and Lionel Barrymore start a four day run in "Her Sweetheart."

MEETINGS OF CITRUS GROWERS WILL STUDY FERTILIZER VALUES

During such periods as the present, when returns to producers are so small, citrus growers should know why they are spending each dollar for fertilizers and just what they are getting in return, states W. H. Williams, Assistant Farm Advisor, Los Angeles County.

In order that growers may better understand their fertilizer needs and how to supply them, the county farm bureau and the citrus associations have arranged a series of fertilizer meetings to be held during January, 1934.

Those near Sierra Madre will be held as follows: Thursday, January 11, 2 p.m.—Claremont Citrus Association, Alexander avenue; Friday, January 12, 2 p.m.—Duarte-Monrovia Citrus Association, Duarte.

Begin January 7 To Prorate Shipments Of Citrus Fruits

After January 7th, 1934, all oranges and grapefruit grown in California and Arizona must be shipped only in conformity with the regulations of the Distribution Committee and the Growers Advisory Committee operating under the Citrus Marketing agreement. Every shipper and every grower who is not affiliated with any shipper must file immediately an official estimate of the amount of fruit controlled by such shipper or grower. The prorate basis and allotment of each shipper and each grower not affiliated with any shipper will be based on such official estimate. Under the national agreement all shippers and unaffiliated growers must be given like benefits and must assume like burdens. The agreement specifically provides that each shipper in so far as practical operations permit, must divide its allocation among the growers whom said shipper serves. Central marketing organizations can apply for and receive the allotments of their affiliated members, but must apportion such allotments equitably among their members.

YOUR CHILD AND THE SCHOOL

By Dr. ALLEN G. IRELAND

Director, Physical and Health Education, New Jersey State Department of Public Instruction

The Undernourished Child

The undernourished or malnourished child does not always present a typical picture. I mean that he does not match a standard. Take two known cases and we may find marked differences in their signs and symptoms. That is why, in the article of last week, I stressed the necessity of taking a child to the physician.

It may help you, however, to know some of the common signs. If they are present, let your doctor decide the meaning. There is usually evidence of fatigue. The child tires easily, and he looks tired. Frequently he shows no inclination to play, a condition that is unnatural to most children. On the other hand, you will find cases that never seem to tire. But instead of normal, healthful activity, we see nervous fidgeting and ceaseless, meaningless movement. Posture is often poor in both types. The muscles feel soft and stringy, instead of being firm and elastic. The eyes are dull, lustreless; often there are pouches or rings beneath them.

As a rule, the malnourished child doesn't sleep or rest well. He may be irritable, easily disturbed by trifles, hard to get along with. The appetite is fickle. Food is picked instead of enjoyed. Don't be guided too much by weight or height. These are not reliable standards.

Dr. Ireland will write more about malnutrition in his next article.

Don't forget—THE NEWS print shop is equipped to turn out quality printing of every kind promptly and reasonably.

lets, to be diverted to the spreading grounds.

Sunday night there was much activity at the Vernon Morse studio home at the extreme northerly part of the east portion of the canyon as a mud slide threatened for a time to break through the rear kitchen windows. Fast work on the part of the family prevented such a happening, but water flooded through the entire house, and a minor slide in the front yard completely buried the goldfish pond, and washed the fish down the road a hundred feet—where they were found next day, lifeless.

Possibility of a flooded house was narrowly averted by Richard William Knost at his canyon home on Churchill Road Sunday, when he resorted to an unusual procedure. Water ran into the upper level of the back-porch and kitchen, and as it threatened to flood down onto the wooden floor of the living rooms and studios he ripped several floor boards up, allowing the water to run under the house and harmlessly down the canyon.

Conditions on trails in the Big Santa Anita were reported as unfavorable to hikers. A total of 25 landslides on the new Santa Anita road resulted in the burial of six automobiles, two of which were parked at Corum's Camp. The proprietors of Orchard Camp, on the Wilson Trail, stated that paths were in fair condition between the Camp and Sierra Madre, with no slides completely blocking travel.

Both Saturday night and New Year's eve the heavy downpour caused a number of watchnight parties to be cancelled, but there were indications at the stroke of 1934 that impromptu fireside gatherings compensated in a large degree for that.

Wednesday a number of CWA workers, transferred temporarily from the spreading ground project, were employed in shovelling, and scraping the city's streets back into a semblance of order and cleanliness. The Fire Department was called on to pump water from the cellar of Ralph Cook's residence at 733 West Grand View avenue.

Observance Of New Years Quiet Here

New Year's Day, while Christmas night the heavy fog caused Arthur Mayer, a Monrovia driver, to run off the blind end of Manzanita avenue, breaking off an irrigation hydrant.

On the first local "wet" Christmas there was only one person arrested for drunkenness. He was taken into custody and fined $15 with a suspended 15-day jail sentence by Judge Thomas Neale. It was the first drunk to appear on the police blotter since March 16 last.

Rose Queen Leads In New Year's Dance At Woman's Club

Despite the rain on Saturday evening, the Junior Woman's Club midnight supper dance and party was well attended, and proved one of the holiday season's most successful and colorful events.

Treva Scott, Sierra Madre's Queen of the Rose Tournament, led the grand march escorted by Mayor H. Clay Reavis, and later Mrs. Pearl Virginia Steinberger presented her with a gift from the Woman's Club and the Chamber of Commerce in acknowledgment of the honor that she has brought to the city. A bouquet of poinsettias and other winter flowers were given her by Boyd Keith.

A radio orchestra provided music for old fashioned quadrilles and Virginia reels, which were enjoyed by all. At the conclusion of the evening's festivities the entire gathering sang the traditional Auld Lang Syne. Supper arrangements were made under the direction of Mrs. J. M. Campbell, who was aided by a committee composed of Mesdames Woodson F. Jones, C. W. Collins and Victor Schmidt.

Program chairman was Mrs. J. G. James, floor committee chairman was Mrs. J. N. Thompson, while Mrs. C. H. Sandage and Mrs. Ralph Solary were in charge of decorations.

Missionaries In Distant Lands To Speak Here Tuesday

Members of Bethany Missionary Society have a treat in store for them next Tuesday, January 9, the first meeting of the society to be held this year. The morning program will open at 10:30 o'clock with Miss Nola Johnston as guest speaker. The hospitality committee of the church will serve a hot luncheon free to all who attend. The afternoon session will be given over to Mrs. W. A. Staub, of Glendale, and Miss Laura Radford, missionaries. Miss Radford recently returned from a stay of many years in Jerusalem and Trans Jordan. The missionary society is an inter-denominational society, with men, women and young people as members.

DR. WAGNER OPENS MONROVIA OFFICE

Dr. Wilbur C. Wagner, former associate of Dr. Phillip M. Lovell, has opened a health home and clinic at 247 East Foothill boulevard, Monrovia, where he will specialize in the principals of treatment of both acute and chronic ailments of the body.

INCOME TAX FORMS DISTRIBUTED HERE

Collector of Internal Revenue John P. Carter released individual income tax blanks for return of 1933 income tax on January 2nd, 1934. They were distributed here in Wednesday's mail. These are Forms 1040 for return of incomes of $5000.00 or more, and Forms 1040-A for return of incomes under $5000.00. Individuals who do not receive forms by mail can secure the same at the Collector's office, 939 South Broadway, Los Angeles, second floor, and at all branch offices on and after January 2nd.

All married persons who have a net income of $2500.00 or more must file returns; all single persons who have a net income of $1000 or more must also file; all persons whose gross income is $5000.00 or more must file returns regardless of the amount of net income.

SNOW CARNIVAL ON AT CAMP SEELEY NOW

Launching the 1934 winter sports season in the southern half of the State, the annual Southern California Snow Sports Carnival will be held at Camp Seeley, Los Angeles municipal playground in the San Bernardino mountains, on Saturday and Sunday, January 13 and 14.

Local Sport Paragraphs

It isn't raining rain to me, it's raining icicles from the junior leaguers. Look, they shoot them out of a bow strung with scantie ribbon.

For the first time in recorded history, if we deal in the usual southern state superlatives, the scalpers were scalped. New Year's Day the quick kale boys were ridding themselves of $4.50 tickets for four-bits at the slightly dampened gate of the Rose Bowl. And considered themselves lucky to get 'em off at any pitance.

And what would be your nomination for 1933's most underrated football team? Except of course by Damon Runyon, who must have clipped off a pretty penny or so from Marcus Kelly.

The difference between wet weather and dry weather is in wet weather your shoe squishes

And in dry weather your shoe creaks

And instead of gravel hopping into your Oxford Mud flaps in instead.

Endeavorers Name Officers For 1934

New officers were elected and new members accepted at the business meeting held Wednesday night the Young People society of Christian Endeavor. C. Lawrence Limbaugh became president; Sam S. Hohri, vice president; Miss Enid E. Murray, secretary; Miss Janet E. Murray, treasurer; Miss Kathleen E. Moote, prayer meeting chairman; Jack M. Jensen, lookout chairman; Roy Edwards Jr., missionary chairman; Merrill A. Smith, social chairman.

Miss June M. Lacey, Perle Bever, Cornelius List, and Frank Hora were taken in as active members.

June Lacey and Rosemarie Forrester are to work with Roy Edwards in the missionary department.

The installation of officers will take place in a special service in the regular evening church service, Sunday, January 7. New members will be formally accepted into the society at the consecration service this Sunday evening.

Miss Kathleen Moote is to lead the Y.P. society next Sunday. Members are requested to come prepared to answer to the roll call with a verse of scripture. In the intermediate society, the service is in charge of Mary Hollingsworth.

Populace Takes To Roof-tops--Hunting Leaks After Storm

"How's your roof?" That question set aside "nice day, today, isn't it?" after the storm. Most homeowners, during the recent downpour, and especially those who had been putting off till tomorrow the repair of the overhead, spent many an anxious hour.

An hour after the skies cleared scores of Sierra Madre homeowners indulged in roof climbing in search of outer manifestations of various indoor damp patches in ceilings and walls.

In many instances dry shingles, misplaced tiles, sun-cracked tar paper and the like went haywire during the storm, and 24 hours after the deluge subsided there were a stream of applicants at the City Hall seeking permits for re-roofing jobs, meaning work for roofers and security in the future against any more record antics of old Jupiter Pleuvius.

Hometown Players Score In Mrs. Wiggs At Little Theatre

With Mr. and Mrs. James N. Hawks, of this city, in the leading roles, and playing to a delighted audience of young and old, "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch" opened at the Little Theatre in Padua Hills on Christmas night.

Mrs. James Hawks, motherly, and heart-warmingly natural, is perfectly cast as the lovable Mrs. Wiggs, and plays the part with a warmth and genuineness which are at once convincing and endearing. The eight children in the cast are natural beyond belief, with apparently no thought of audience.

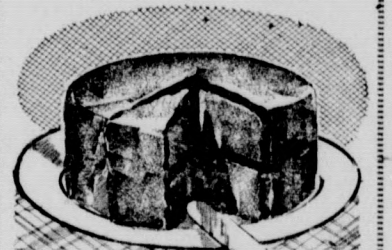

Mrs. Wiggs will be staged at The Little Theatre for the last time this evening.

Water Supply Of City Not Injured By Big Rainfall

Many other communities are being directed to boil all drinking water in order to kill harmful bacteria resulting from the recent storm, but Sierra Madre residents are relieved from any such action by the fact that all water coming through the city mains is from underground wells and is absolutely uncontaminated by surface water such as collects in unprotected storage reservoirs.

H. H. Willock, former president of the Waverly Oil Company of Pittsburgh, Pa., and now a resident of Alabama, was a visitor to Sierra Madre on Thursday—and charmed with the city. He was accompanied on the trip to California by Mrs. Willock. It would not be surprising if he became a Sierra Madren.
